"Enrico Letta takes responsibility for the Report on the Future of the Single Market requested by the June European Council", announce Spain, Belgium and European Commission

Launched 30 years ago, the Single Market is the jewel in the crown of European integration, a source of common wealth. Faced with a more conflictual, volatile and complex world, a special effort in terms of strategic rethinking is required.

The European Council of 30 June 2023 called "for an independent High-Level Report on the future of the Single Market to be presented at its meeting of March 2024 and invites the incoming presidencies of the Council and the Commission to take this work forward, in consultation with the Member States".

Both countries and the Commission would like to find in it concrete and ambitious recommendations and asked the former Italian head of government Enrico Letta to write this report.

Enrico Letta is notably responsible for collecting the opinions of various European and national bodies, the employers' and trade union world as well as civil society associations.
